

Weekly Report

Junming Ke

Last week I was busy with my graduation. Report thesis and graduation ceremony, and with some friends say goodbye to our college...

This week when I returned to the project: Network Security Visual Analytics (NSVA), I have received a task from Jiadong Huang, a task which was about making a video.

After a detailed understanding of the task, I have spent five days in making this video:

Introduction of visualization: the chart. (23 min)

Include: Several representative charts are introduced, introduced how to make a bar chart with d3.js, with the subtitles...

Then I have implement some functions such as drag and hover for the project NSVA. Huihua Guan and I believe that with these interactive event, we could contact with Dr.Yao for some future work. And Dr.Yao said he was busy so we prepared to implement some other functions first.

